

The Piermont Book Club is reading:

Percival Everett (born December 22, 1956, Fort Gordon (now Fort Eisenhower), Georgia, U.S.) is an American writer whose works reflect a wide range of subjects and styles and often deal head-on with philosophy and preconceptions concerning race. He has authored more than 30 books of fiction and poetry

A brilliant, action-packed reimagining of The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, which we will read alongside James both harrowing and ferociously funny, told from the enslaved Jim's point of view.

He also wrote:

Meeting